

Chetan Joshi, Ph.D.
Counseling Center Director
University of Maryland, College Park

My name is Chetan Joshi and I serve as Director of the University of Maryland's Counseling Center. I have been in this position since January 2020, but prior to that served in the associate and then the interim director role at the University of Connecticut's Counseling and Mental Health Services. When I was in the associate director role at UConn, I actively served on the Board of the Association for the Coordination of Clinical Services (ACCCS) as their inaugural CE coordinator and thus have experience working for the development of a significant and large association like AUCCCD. Since starting in my new position at UMD, AUCCCD has been an invaluable resource to me, both in terms of the expertise, information, and guidance shared on the listserv and at the conference, and also the important professional and personal connections that I have been able to forge as a member. With everything going on in the field of Collegiate Mental Health with its attendant challenges and transitions, I strongly believe that AUCCCD needs to be a stable and guiding influence on the field. I also strongly believe in the mission and purpose of AUCCCD overall and would be incredibly honored to serve the organization and its membership in this capacity. Thank you for accepting my nomination.
