

PSYCHOLOGIST: The Counseling Center at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte is seeking qualified applicants for a full-time position as Psychologist to begin on or around August 1, 2014. Responsibilities include individual and group therapy, consultation with faculty, staff, students, and others, outreach programming, psychological assessment, and supervision of graduate students. Required qualifications include a doctoral degree in psychology, eligibility for licensure as a psychologist in North Carolina, and demonstrated interest in university counseling. At least one year of supervised post-doctoral experience and expertise delivering culturally-competent services to a diverse client population are preferred qualifications. Candidates must have enthusiasm for collaboration within the Center and throughout the university community. Salary and benefits are competitive. The UNC Charlotte Counseling Center is IACS-accredited and is an APA-accredited pre-doctoral internship site.

UNC Charlotte is North Carolina's urban research institution. Our campus is located in the piedmont of North Carolina, just two hours from the Blue Ridge Mountains and three hours from the Atlantic Ocean. With more than 26,500 enrolled students, including roughly 5,000 master's and doctoral candidates, UNC Charlotte is the second-largest institution in the UNC system. It leverages its location in the state's largest city to offer internationally competitive programs of research and creative activity and exemplary undergraduate, graduate and professional programs coupled with a focused set of community engagement initiatives that enrich the region's quality of life.
